"Go from me.
shall stand in thy

Yet I henceforward shadow."

A school holds graduation commencement exercises
to bid farewell
to its students and to signify that its students
have successfully completed their secondary school studies.
Although a student leaves for employment,
a school of higher learning,
or military service,
and perhaps a new address,
he is highly aware that those things which he has learned and loved
at his school will always remain with him.

So it is with us,
the Class of 1965,
as Sharon High School sends us off
to our challenging futures.
It would be impossible to forget our accumulated knowledge,
our wonderful friendships,
or all of our good times.
Sharon High
has meant too much to us to ever forget.

Therefore, we have composed a book which tries to relate our many wonderful memories
of our four years at Sharon High School.
Although you send us off
into the world,
Sharon High School,
you will always be with us.

Mr. Francis Roman

Dedication

When we first walked through the doors of Sharon High School as the Class of 1965, completely confused by the maze of corridors, he directed us to the auditorium. Days later, as we continued to be frustrated by our seemingly complex schedules, he was there to put us on the right trail. Then, for four years, it was his radiant smile, his priceless sense of humor, and his continual air of good feeling that made us really feel that Sharon High School was our school. Greeting us in the foyer, meeting us in the corridors, or waving good-bye to us as we boarded our buses, he always seemed to try his best to brighten the day.

This is why we have dedicated our yearbook to you, Mr. Francis Roman; because it is you who symbolizes the fine spirit of Sharon High School.

Bicentennial of Sharon

"That under God through our forefathers we have enjoyed invaluable Liberties & Privileges. Civil and Religious & when we consider the Worth of them, and how dear it Cost our forefathers to purchase these for themselves & for their posterity. We can't but esteem them highly. Nor Wonder to see the people alarmed when they behold their Lib. & Privileges threatened & invaded. . ."

On July 8, 1765, the incorporated district of Stoughtonham, soon to be renamed Sharon, held its very first town meeting. Could the men and women who gathered on that day have foreseen the Sharon that exists today—the Sharon with a population of more than 11,000; the Sharon with seven churches and three temples; the Sharon that has built four new schools in ten years; the Sharon that has continued to flourish since that very first town meeting?

This year Sharon celebrates its bicentennial anniversary — an anniversary marking two hundred years of independence and growth. The population has quadrupled since 1900, but Sharon has maintained its small-town feeling and natural beauty. It has provided excellent educational and cultural opportunities for both the youth and adults of the town. After two hundred years, Sharon stands as an example of American freedom and democracy at its best.

Sharon—as it used to look

SHARON HIGH SCHOOL
POND STREET
SHARON, MASSACHUSETTS

Dear Miss Newton and Mr. Konsavage,

During the past four years we have changed from two hundred individuals into one unified class. This change is largely due to you, our class advisors. It is because of our many class projects that we have become unified, and because of your guidance and understanding that we were able to successfully accomplish these projects.

As we leave Sharon High, to again become two hundred individuals, we will each take with us the responsibility and organization which you have helped us to develop. You have guided us as a class, but more important, you have helped us to develop as individuals. And so as President, I would like to thank you in behalf of the Class of 1965 for your guidance and understanding.

Sincerely yours,
Ronald Jacobs

Administration

Mr. Danielson

First it was the twist, and now the monkey.

Mr. Roman

Sharon High could not function without its administration and guidance departments. Mr. Dowd, Mr. Roman, and Mr. Danielson, in their roles as administrators, have effectively initiated and maintained many high standards which produce the fine quality of students at Sharon High School. The administration department is also responsible for the fine reputation Sharon High School has earned in both curriculum and social activities.

The guidance department, while working along with the administration department, is

Mr. Dowd

"Car 54, where are you?"

extremely helpful to the student body when any problem arises. Mr. Barrows, Miss Haley, Mr. Soule, and Mr. Konsavage devote much time, energy, and thought to both the high school days of the students and their future lives.

Thus, the guidance and administration departments work closely with the students to produce intelligent, well-rounded individuals. Without the hard work of these departments, Sharon High and its students would not be as highly regarded as they are.

Miss Haley

Mr. Barrows

"Oops, I sent another one to the wrong college."

Developing the Minds of Youth

Sharon High School strives to prepare its students for their roles in society by introducing them to their civic responsibilities, the use of language as a means of expression, and the technology of science and mathematics. These most important tools of life are molded and sharpened in many ways during the four years a student spends at Sharon High School.

Directing Extra-curricular Activities

The school has kept pace with modern education with the purchase of new visual aid and laboratory equipment. Courses are highlighted through the use of movies, opaque projectors, and modern laboratory set-ups. In the language department, with the aid of tape recorders and individual sound booths, students are given the opportunity to practice the intonation and comprehension of the language. He is also able to hear the language as it is spoken in the native country.

The physical education of youth has not been neglected. The Greeks first realized the importance of "a sound mind in a sound body," and Sharon High School has continued this tradition. The students supplement the weekly two hours of physical education in the curriculum with inter-scholastic and intramural athletic competition. Not only does this competition condition its participants, but it also brings the student body together by stimulating school spirit and encouraging good-sportsmanship.

Stimulating Intellectual Curiosity

Finally, and perhaps the most important of all Sharon High School's resources, is its faculty. Dedicated to their profession, these men and women are always willing to help students. They are continually working on their courses to make them more thought-provoking and interesting. Concerned with the futures of their students, they spend a free period, now and then, helping in reviews for College Boards or reassuring a student before an important interview. Many can truly say that the teachers are influential in planning their future lives.

Sharon High School is, indeed, richly endowed. Curriculum, resources, and faculty all have helped to develop our minds and our character.

Leaving Sharon High School,
we, the Class of 1965,
take with us
not only our scholastic achievements,
but also many wonderful memories
—class dances, sports,
the Junior Prom, the Senior Play,
and MARSENGOLD.
These activities
have developed the class
into one unit
eager to share
the excitement
and optimism of graduation.

Graduation,
which culminates
our secondary education,
marks the commencement
of our individual lives
—college,
military service, employment.
Whatever path
we choose to follow,
it will surely be influenced by our friends
and experiences at Sharon High
Thus,
we go from you,
Sharon High School,
yet we shall stand
henceforward
in thy shadow.

JUNIOR PROM 1964

Would we ever finish? If we did, would everything coordinate? Gradually the gymnasium was transformed into an enchanted South Sea Isle, Bali Hai. Before we knew it, there were only five days left to locate programs that hadn't arrived, to put up that one last wire, and to practice the Grand March. Friday, May 8, 1964, arrived all too soon, but we were ready for our Junior Prom. The crowning of our queen Linda Pitt, and the announcement of her court were the highlights of the evening. That night as we danced on our tropic isle, we realized that "Bali Hai" was a dream come true.

"Shave and a Haircut, Sir?"

Perhaps the most exciting and one of the most exacting activities ever presented by the Class of '65 was The Late Christopher Bean. The cast, the director, Mr. Newton, and the student director, Beth Goldstein, worked desperately under great pressure. Each member of the cast spent the week before the play rehearsing into the late hours of the night. The crews also worked desperately—rounding up props and sewing costumes. However, it was well worth all the work. For the play, a hilarious comedy about the development of greed within a family, was well-received by the audience.

There are 168 hours in a week—many of which you can spend gaining experience while attempting to put into words and pictures the events of four years of high school. Your work begins in the fall, when you try to choose a theme for the yearbook which will summarize all the memories and activities of your school career. By the end of the fall, you may find that you have memorized Bartlett's Quotations in your search to label each of your 200 classmates. During December vacation, when you are going over the Senior personality sheets, you may learn many interesting "facts"—that there is a boy who belongs to eleven clubs

Finally comes Class Night, and the yearbooks are distributed. As you look through the complete book for the first time, you are proud that you have had a hand in it. You think of all the hours of work and comradeship, and you feel that you have learned a great deal about journalism and teamwork.

From the first moment
we walk through the doors
of Sharon High as Freshmen,
until the day of graduation,
four years later,
we are constantly learning
the fundamentals
which will be so necessary
in our future lives.
We develop scholarship
and the application
of this scholarship.
We learn the importance
of getting along with other people
as well as the ability to assume leadership.
We discover
the value of accomplishment
and, most important of all,
the worth of honesty,
uprightness, and earnestness.
When we leave Sharon High,
we take our learning with us
—learning
which we will apply
to our future lives.

THE JUNIOR CLASS

The Junior year marks the beginning of the last half of one's high school career. It is a year of academic necessity for all college-bound students, a year in which NEDT's are replaced by the more difficult PSAT's, and chemistry and U. S. History and Government I become the order of the day. It is also a social year beginning with the class dance and climaxing with the Junior Prom, a well-deserved end to a difficult and exhausting year.

To the Junior Class falls the task of perpetuating the athletic tradition of Sharon High School, fulfilling scholastic aims, and developing good citizens. We wish the best of luck to the Class of 1966 in their next year as Seniors.

"The expectations of life

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

After only two years, the class of '67 has proven its worth to Sharon High School. Members of the class have shown interest in all phases of school life. The students excel in scholastics, as evidenced by their honor roll record and their scores in the NEDT's and PSAT's. They have contributed many players to both Junior Varsity and Varsity teams in basketball, soccer, and track. Their social enthusiasm can only be measured by the success of the annual Sophomore Dance.

It is obvious that the class has already set a high standard for itself, but, by continued interest and participation, the members cannot help but maintain it.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

Walking across the seal on the floor of the foyer of Sharon High School, the members of the Class of 1968 did not have any idea what high school life was really like. After a long week of struggling with floor plans and schedules, the Freshman made the adjustment and settled right down to work. In this, their first year at Sharon High School, they have contributed greatly to the various clubs, sports, and activities. They have displayed scholastic prowess and show every indication of continuing their fine record.

activities

The extracurricular activities offered
at Sharon High
not only allow the students to pursue their personal interests in areas
ranging from art to debating,
but also give a pupil
the opportunity to be of service
to the school
through such groups
as the Varsity Clubs
and the Student Council.

It is by participating in extracurricular activities that a student has the opportunity to learn and apply
the qualities of character,
leadership, and service
—qualities
so important
for a responsible citizen
to possess.
And while many of these activities
will be but shadows
in our lives,
their importance
will remain with us forever.

Student Council keeps the student well-informed and well supplied.

Presenting the Ideas

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Sharon High School Student Council, under the direction of Mr. Liberman, is an active and effective organization. The Council has initiated and maintained such needed and valuable improvements and functions as the Student Council suggestion box, the use of student identification cards, the student monitor system in the cafeteria, the issuance of honor study passes, the presentation of Good Citizenship Awards, the availability of student greeter service, and the presentation of its annual student scholarship dance. However, the main purpose of the Student Council is to provide an effective liason between the students and the administration. And to the Sharon High School Student Council may we say a job well done.

Students back up Mr. Dowd with his suggestion for 49 minutes of passing time and 4 minute classes.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Membership in the National Honor Society has become recognized nationally as one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon a high school student. In order to be selected for the National Honor Society, a student must achieve a "B" average, and must actively display the qualities of leadership, character, scholarship, and service.

The Sharon chapter, under the direction of a new advisor, Mr. James, hopes to expand some of its activities. Among the activities planned by the society are a tutoring project, an award program for deserving Sophomores, a project to raise money for the Student Scholarship Fund, and the presentation of a gift to the number-one ranked student in the graduating class.

In this way the society hopes to achieve a standard of excellence for the entire student body.

DEBATING CLUB

"Honorable Judge, worthy opponents, colleagues, and guests, we the negative team from . . ."

To any of the Sharon High School debaters, this greeting means the beginning of a battle involving reasoning, research, and speaking skills. The Varsity teams, under Mr. Foley, and the Novices, under Mr. Riley, have traveled to many weekend tournaments and Wednesday debates sponsored by the South Shore League.

Late last spring, as soon as the last tournament was over, Mr. Foley and the Varsity members began preparing material for the new topic. Throughout the season, Varsity members have worked to create the best possible cases and have helped the newer members learn the rules, methods, and secrets that make good debaters.

EAGLE

The purpose of the Newspaper Club this year has been two-fold; to produce the Eagle once a month and to give the staff members a greater insight into journalism in general. While some meetings have been devoted entirely to the production of the school newspaper, others have been aimed at exposing the students to layout, composition, and production techniques, as well as improving their journalistic style of writing.

So in the past, the editors and advisors have gained valuable ideas through attending seminars and press conferences sponsored by the PATRIOT LEDGER and the BOSTON GLOBE.

The Eagle staff also made a substantial contribution to the Student Activities Scholarship Fund through the success of this year's Eagle Dance.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

The Sharon High School Junior Red Cross Chapter is to be congratulated this year for having contributed the most money to the National Red Cross Membership Drive. Besides this project, the members have also been busy making favors for hospitalized patients througout the area. Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Valentine's Day favors are warmly received and greatly appreciated. Under the leadership of the advisor, Miss Chase, several girls have also contributed their time as volunteer workers at the Goddard Memorial Hospital. Also, two students represent Sharon every week at the Red Cross headquarters in Boston. Here, mutual problems are discussed and ways to improve local chapters are suggested. Through their humanitarian efforts, the members in this club bring much joy and happiness into the lives of others.

"You'd like to check that book out? . . .
Sure I'll help you—that's what I'm here for."

The Library Club, under the able direction of Miss Clark, is composed of about thirty girls who willingly donate their study halls every week to work in the library. They take a burden off Miss Clark and help the library to run more smoothly by doing routine tasks, such as delivering passes, checking books in and out, and shelving them in proper order. They also create eye-catching exhibits, as well as water Miss Clark's geraniums which "give the library a more cheerful atmosphere." The main purpose of the club, however, is to teach students the proper use of a library and to give them the opportunity to not only work with other students, but with teachers as well.

THE CHESS CLUB

Meeting every Tuesday lab period, the Chess Club offers a chance for students to play this thinking man's game for enjoyment and for competition. This year the club numbers about forty. From this number, five members were chosen for their ability to form the team. Sharon belongs to the South Shore Interscholastic Chess League, and last year lost to Quincy only in the finals. Under Mr. Downing's direction, the team hopes to do even better this year. It is the team's hope that a Hockamock Chess League be set up as in other school sports.

CLASSICAL READING CLUB

The recurring question of man throughout time is why. This is also the question of the Classical Reading Club, which attempts to provide an opportunity within high school for students to formulate their ideas on the basic question of man's existence—questions revolving around his relationship with other men and with the universe.

Discussions at meetings serve as a basis by which members can remold and add to their own ideas concerning man in reality. The opinions which they hold are open to give and take of club discussions. These thinkers are seeking to solve the "unanswerable" question of man—the question of why.

The Dramatics Club, one of Sharon High School's largest clubs, is once again enlarging its program under the direction of Miss Sanford and Mr. Newton. This year the members of the group are going to attempt long-range projects in order to build new sets for staging, to increase the make-up kits so that they can be available to all clubs, and finally, to obtain more costumes which can be readily available to everyone. The Dramatics Club's new aim is to familiarize its members with the different types of theatre and drama. In order to accomplish this, groups will be formed and skits pertaining to various periods of drama will be presented to the entire club.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

To gain a better understanding of all phases of the teaching profession is the main goal of the Anne Sullivan Chapter of the Future Teachers of America. While achieving their aim, the members participate in such activities as donating Thanksgiving baskets, observing elementary school teaching, giving initiation teas, and selling school seals. To make their bi-monthly meetings interesting and informative, the officers, with the help of their advisor, Miss Perrotta, plan films, lectures, and discussions, all directed at helping members decide if teaching will be their future career.

Art Club

Meeting four times a week, under the direction of Miss Atwood, are thirty of Sharon's budding young artists. Although no set curriculum is imposed on the students, they are given the opportunity to learn new, and perfect old, skills in many media. Their works, in charcoal, in water-colors, in oil, in clay, in pastels, and in ink, are displayed in the foyer throughout the year. Advertisements and decorations for class dances and many other school functions are often created in the prevailing atmosphere of artistic pandamonium.

JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUE

Each alternate Friday morning, the Junior Classical League, an orgainzation designed to promote the culture and heritage of ancient Rome, assembles. A typical meeting could include seeing Miss Chase's recently-taken slides of Roman ruins,playing Latin password and other word games, hearing reports, or even singing popular American songs in Latin. Due to the increased size of the club this year, many more activities are available. The members hope to put on a Roman Banquet, the annual slave auction, and possibly even an assembly. Students, because of their enthusiastic support of the League, keep Latin alive in Sharon High.

MUSIC

GLEE CLUB AND CHORUS

Under the expert leadership of Miss Carolyn England, new to Sharon High this fall, both the Girls' Glee Club and Mixed Chorus can be relied upon to provide us with a wonderful "sound of music." With both groups in full operation, a pleasant variety of popular, folk, and classical music comes forth from the throats of all the talented, enthusiastic members. Though rehearsals are closed affairs, all students have the chance to hear the melodious sounds of these groups at assemblies and concerts throughout the year.

CLASSICAL MUSIC APPRECIATION CLUB

Another addition to Sharon High School's clubs is the Classical Music Appreciation Club, under the guidance of Mr. Chappuis. Its purpose is to introduce the students to the masterpieces of classical music with the hope that when they become better acquainted with it, they will be able to appreciate and enjoy it more fully. At the beginning of each meeting, one of the members gives a short talk on the composer and the piece to be played. The rest of the meeting involves the students in listening and trying to understand the musical work of that week.

FOLK SONG CLUB

The Folk Song Club, one of the newer activities at Sharon High, has once again met with an eager response from the student body. The club members and Miss Perotta get together to take part in hootenannies, listen to various albums, and give both banjo and guitar lessons. All facets of folk music are explored to some degree.

A number of records and a subscription to a folk magazine have been purchased and donated to the school library. In the near future, the club members hope to attend a folk concert. All the members enrich their attraction to folk music and a good time is always in store at the folk song get-togethers.

Providing Entertainment at

"A-wundaful, a-wundaful."

THE BAND

An important part of every student gathering, be it assembly or pep rally, is Sharon's Concert Band. This year under the direction of Mr. Hoffmann, the band has not only mastered the marches of Sousa and Walters, but also enlarged its repertoire with an entirely new folio of concert pieces. Each Friday morning, the music room has been the scene of much activity, as the members of the band work hard to perfect such pieces as "Blue Skies", "Pavane", and "Alexander's Ragtime Band." Their diligence has not been without rewards. In keeping with longstanding tradition, the band has once again distinguished itself, by having among its members two musicians, Linda Donph and Ronald Brass, chosen for participation in the South Eastern District Music Festival.

ORCHESTRA

Although this is one of the smallest groups at Sharon High, the members of the orchestra are very devoted and accomplished young musicians. The group plays classical music, often designed for quartets or other small groups. There is nothing small, however, about the quality of the music they produce after their many hours of practice. Under the direction of Mr. Hoffman, this group has certainly proven that it is quality and not quantity that is important.

Spirit
and the desire to win
has encouraged all our teams.
However,
this zealous spirit
has not overshadowed
the quality of sportsmanship.
Sharon teams
have always been respected for their fine sportsmanship

GIRLS' VARSITY CLUB

This year the members of the Girls' Varsity Club have worked hard to establish it as one of the most outstanding service organizations of the school. Besides the regular activities of the club, including the sale of bookcovers and potato chips, the semi-annual carwash, and the organization of the intramural program, the girls can proudly state that their efforts for both the soccer and basketball rallies contributed largely to the success of these functions. By contributing numerous decorations and a lively skit, the spirit of the club and the entire school was enthusiastically displayed. The eventual purpose of all the club's activties is a donation to the student scholarship fund and the payment of the girls' varsity sweaters, which are awarded to seniors.

BOYS' VARSITY CLUB

If any motto could be given to the Boys' Varsity Club, it should be "Service with Distinction", for ever since the founding of the club, this has been its goal. Under the guidance of Mr. Hall and very often on their own, the boys run various activities which have become school tradition, such as the cake sale, the talent show, and the pep rallies. Besides these, the club also provides bus transportation to away games and boys' athletic equipment for general use. Because of this, the boys who wear the Varsity Club emblem, wear it with pride.

CHEERLEADERS

Once again Sharon High School not only performed well in actual basketball competition, but also during half-times and time-outs. Our nine regular Varsity cheerleaders and the three alternates were not merely performers, but they were, in the true sense of the word, "cheerleaders". They not only inspired the players, but also encouraged the spectators to join in on each cheer.

Cheering with vitality, dignity, and poise, the cheerleaders of 1965 were a group of girls of which Sharon High could be proud.

FIELD HOCKEY

A new sport was added to the fall agenda this year. The Girls' Field Hockey Team, under the coaching of Miss Decas, joined in interscholastic competition with many of the neighboring towns. The enthusiasm of the girls never failed although their premier season was unsuccessful. They practiced hard every afternoon to learn how to play with knowledge and skill. Next year's team will prove that all this practice was worthwhile.

CROSS COUNTRY

Weeks before the actual Cross Country season began, Mr. Coviello, the coach, started to get his team in shape. Each day the boys ran many miles up and down hills, through woods, and around the track to get into top-notch condition. Due to the large number of spirited underclassmen on the team, we expect even better teams in the future.

GYMNASTICS

"Mens Sana in Corpore Sano"

"A sound mind and a sound body is a short but full description of a happy state in this world."

To balance its academic program, Sharon High School presents to its students an excellent physical fitness program. Through the Gymnastic Club, a student may strive to gain the precision, co-ordination, strength, and experienced skill necessary to a top gymnast.

Yet, this goal is achieved only by perserverence and constant practice. Although its attainment is made possible only through the extensive time, effort, and energy involved, its payment of top physical fitness is in itself a rich reward.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

This year the Girls' Varsity basketball team had a successful season, ending up with a record of 4-3 in Hockomock League action. Spurred on by high-scorer Nancy Lindberg and quick defensive player Roberta Laschever, the girls saw exciting action, almost beating the undefeated League champions, Oliver Ames. As a result of their fine record, the girls entered into the Southeastern Massachusetts Girls' Invitational Tournament which was held during February Vacation.

BASKETBALL

Although Sharon High School Eagles relinquished their Hockomock League supremacy this past season, the team sported an accent on youth and a very promising future. Finishing with a respectable 11-5 mark, Coach Davenport's squad gained valuable experience and all important poise. With nine lettermen returning next season, including four of the five starters and Varsity candidates from an undefeated Junior Varsity squad, the Eagles are looking forward to regaining the League title and once again competing for the Class C Championship.
